[The Guardian] Ed Miliband's new green jobs will bring Britain hope. I dare Reform to denounce them | Polly Toynbee

Tue, 21 Oct 2025 05:00:33 GMT

While Nigel Farage promotes retro plans to reopen coalmines, will he really tell thousands of clean energy workers to leave their well-paid, local jobs? This government is bad at proclaiming what it's for. But to find out, follow the money. Its boldest investment is in green energy, designed to create prodigious return

[City AM] FCA's diversity requirements go 'far beyond remit', report warns

Tue, 21 Oct 2025 05:00:00 +0000

The Financial Conduct Authority (FCA) and other public sector diversity initiatives go "far beyond" remits set by legal requirements, a report has warned, prompting Reform UK to vow to reset systems to reward "talent and merit alone". Analysis in a paper by the Institute of Economic Affairs (IEA) has suggested th

[City AM] Labour's alarmed by the Green surge? So am I.

Tue, 21 Oct 2025 04:59:00 +0000

Spare a thought for Keir Starmer; he seems to have been so busy fighting a monster on the right, in the form of Nigel Farage, that he hasn't noticed another deadly enemy emerging on the left. At least, that's the concern expressed by some Labour MPs alarmed by the rise of the Greens and, specifically, [...]

[The Guardian] Britain is suddenly pining for closer ties with the EU. It's more likely to get the cold shoulder | Anand Menon

Tue, 21 Oct 2025 04:00:32 GMT

Labour now wants to use the damage from Brexit to combat the threat of Nigel Farage, but the union has bigger fish to fry A palpable sense of urgency has emerged in the UK's approach to relations with the European Union. Ministers are beginning to sound enthusiastic, impatient even. The chancellor of the exchequer, Rac

[Daily Mail] NADINE DORRIES: The telling reason I keep being stopped in the street by strangers from all walks of life... a revolution is coming

Tue, 21 Oct 2025 00:12:07 GMT

Reform leader Nigel Farage has developed something of a catchphrase in recent months. 'Something is happening out there,' he likes to say.
