[The Guardian] Tory patience wears thin as Badenoch's critics count down to May elections

Sun, 02 Nov 2025 05:00:54 GMT

With the party adrift and Reform surging, Jenrick's allies are sharpening their pitch for a post-election reset. At an opulent speakeasy-style event at the Raffles hotel on Whitehall this week, the great and the good of what is left of the Conservative party marked the Spectator's parliamentarian of the year awards.
